A Guide to Free or Affordable Health Care

Children

Teens

Adults

This guide was produced and published by the Cuyahoga County Office of Health and Human Services in partnership with the Cuyahoga County Health Care Council.

www.resource.cuyahogacounty.us
One of the most effective strategies for staying healthy is to establish a healthy lifestyle and prevent harmful conditions before they arise. This resource is intended to guide all Cuyahoga County residents towards a routine of preventive care, regardless of income. For your convenience, locations that provide preventive health services are listed throughout this guide.

To use this guide as a resource, refer to either the child, teen, or adult section to find a brief introduction on recommended preventive health care screens. A timetable of how frequently different preventive measures should be taken is also included in each section. In order to schedule an appointment, find a service provider that is most convenient for you to visit and make sure that the service(s) you need are available.

For ease of use, the following symbols are included to explain some of the features offered at each location:

- A check mark indicates that a particular service is offered at a site.

- Accessible by public transportation.

- Tabs on each page direct you to the section that corresponds to services for children, teens and adults.

PLEASE CALL AHEAD:

Information may change at any time
Additional Features:
- This book is divided into three parts, one for each age group:
  1. Children
  2. Teens
  3. Adults
- Each of the above sections has a corresponding chart to explain how frequently a person in each age group should access preventive health services.
- To learn more about open enrollment periods for local area health insurance companies, please refer to page 97.
- To find out if you are eligible for Medicaid please call 1-800-324-8680.
- Contact information for other important health services is listed below, and sites that specialize in teen health care are listed on pages 32-39.

Guidelines that will determine the cost of your health care

What is a sliding fee scale?
If you are NOT eligible for Medicaid, Healthy Start, or health care coverage through your employer, the health care providers in this book will use a sliding fee scale to decide how much to charge you. The lower your income is, the less you will have to pay. As the income of the household increases, the required family contribution increases.

What is “Poverty?”
Many sites use the Federal Poverty Guidelines as a way to decide how much a person can contribute to their health care. These guidelines are based on the number of people in a household and the combined income of the members of the household. The following chart shows the Federal Poverty Guidelines.

Physical Exam / Behavioral Health Assessment: Annual: Physical Exam, Behavioral Health Assessment, Developmental Assessment, Clinical Testicular Exam, Vision Exam (At age 1 and 2 years)

- *This schedule has been adopted from the schedule created by the Department of Health and Human Services Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. However, adjustments should be made for children in certain high risk situations, and if immunization shots are missed or given late for any reason, the schedule may also need to be changed.
-  Hepatitis A vaccine is recommended for children and teens in regions that have high rates of Hepatitis A.
A Guide to Free or Affordable Health Care for Children

Every parent wants to raise a healthy child. With that goal in mind, it is important for all parents to consistently provide their children with preventive health care. Preventive health care can protect your child from harmful diseases and illnesses. Children begin to develop health behaviors and habits very early in life. Therefore, parents have the responsibility of fostering positive health choices and decisions for their children.

You should be sure to follow an approved immunization schedule; the chart to the left (Table 1) can serve as a guide. Your child should receive up to eight exams during the first two years. After the second year, your child should receive an exam annually. During each exam, please talk to the doctor about any questions or concerns that you may have. If for any reason you do not feel comfortable with a physician you have chosen, consult with your health care plan to resolve your concerns.

This section of the guide will provide you with a list of primary care health services that children need in order to prevent serious health problems and to stay healthy. However, under certain circumstances changes to the recommended health services and schedules may be required. Please consult with your physician to address the individual needs of your child.
Guidelines for Children’s Oral Health

Why is oral health important for my child?
Just as adult’s teeth decay, so do baby’s teeth. Although baby’s teeth will fall out, it is important to protect them from cavities and decay. Baby teeth save space for permanent teeth and helps guide them in, so problems with baby teeth can harm permanent teeth. Baby teeth also help kids speak properly, bite, chew, smile, and kiss.

How can I afford this?
Medicaid and Healthy Start cover dental care. You should bring your child to a dentist for a check up twice a year. If you aren’t eligible for either of these programs and you do not have dental coverage through your employer; see the section on dental options in the chart “Other Free and Low Cost Services” on page 2.

Before teeth come in…
You can start a prevention regimen well before your child’s teeth come in. Once your baby is born, but before teeth begin to grow, clean the gums and tongue each day with a moist cloth. If your infant uses a bottle to calm down or fall asleep, use water instead of milk or juice to prevent the gums and teeth from decaying. A pacifier is an even better option, but don’t dip the pacifier into sugar or a sugary liquid.

Once teeth come in…
The first tooth will come in around 6 months after birth, but each child is different and it might take longer in some cases. You should teach your child to drink from a sippy cup by his or her first birthday. Somewhere between age 18 months and 2 years, get a small, soft, nylon tooth brush. Brush each part of each tooth at least ten times. Until age 6-8, help your child brush twice a day so that he or she will adopt this habit.

General guidelines to remember for children age 2 and up…
- Brush at least twice a day
- Use Dental Floss every day
- Eat a balanced diet
- Visit the dentist twice a year

Preventive Care for Teens

In today’s society many teens are faced with difficult choices which can lead to health crises such as STD’s, HIV infection, alcohol and drug abuse, unexpected pregnancy, obesity and eating disorders. Due to the increasing number of these health crises among teens, health care providers have become committed to provide health services specific to the needs of teens.

Health care centers in Cuyahoga county offer a variety of health services to help teens establish and maintain good habits for a healthy mind and body. The table to the left (Table 2) reflects recommended preventive health services teens should receive annually. Ensuring that you receive preventive health services can help you avoid disease and illness. Preventive health services can also detect and treat illnesses early on in order to avoid worsening conditions.

This section of the guide lists five sites that specialize in teen health services and resource information regarding services for pregnant teens.

Notes for Table 2:
* Doctors recommend a monthly self-examination, but a clinical testicular exam could be provided with a comprehensive unclothed physical exam.
 A Pap Test and pelvic exam is recommended every three years for women between the ages of 20 and 65. (American Family Physician, March 15, 2001 as published by The American Academy of Family Physicians)
 High risk only: A tuberculosis test should be performed on teens who have been exposed to active TB, have lived in a homeless shelter, have been incarcerated, have lived in an area endemic for TB, or currently work in a health care setting. A hepatitis B vaccination should be given to susceptible teens at high risk for infection.

Special Note: Teen Pregnancy

One-third of pregnant teens receive little or no prenatal care, which often results in babies with low birth weight and premature birth. These children also have more childhood health problems and are frequently hospitalized.

Access to health care for a mother and her unborn child is an important factor in having a successful and healthy child birth. Proper health care access, such as having a complete exam early in your pregnancy, can prevent unwanted health problems.

Lack of transportation and convenient access to health care facilities are often problems for teens. It may also be challenging to find resources while balancing school and motherhood. In order to get help with these obstacles and other issues commonly associated with teen pregnancy, use the resources below in addition to the primary care sites listed in this section.

Preventive Care for Adults

A few visits a year to a doctor and dentist can make life a lot easier. Be sure to keep your appointments so that you can prevent health problems and keep any health conditions that you may have under control. Receiving preventive health care and staying healthy will allow you to save money and miss fewer days at work. You will also want to maintain a healthy diet and exercise routine to reduce the risk of chronic diseases and illnesses.

How to pick a doctor...

Make sure you choose a doctor that you are comfortable with and whose office is convenient to visit. You should feel secure asking questions and your doctor should be able give you clear answers. Remember that you can always change doctors if you want.

Insurance Companies Open Enrollment Dates

What is an HMO?
An HMO is a prepaid health plan delivering comprehensive care to members through designated providers, having a fixed monthly payment for health care services and requiring members to be in a plan for a specified period of time (usually 1 year).

What is open enrollment?
HMOs provide health insurance to people across the state. In order to ensure that quality health care is available to all residents, the Ohio Department of Insurance requires every HMO to have an open enrollment period, meaning that anyone who applies must be accepted, aside from some extreme circumstances.

How do I learn about open enrollment periods?
We have provided a list of open enrollment periods for HMOs in Cuyahoga County, but this information can change over time. You can always contact the Department of Insurance at either www.ohioinsurance.gov or 1-800-686-1526 for the most current information.
